On examining the urinary deposit aropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, the color will be a thin milky hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this delicately insidious cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a permanent cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration to the genital-urinary organs.

REMIT

PRESIDENTIAL OUTLOOK.

The San Francisco Post says: "Active discussion of issues in the next presidential campaign has not yet begun, but it is not too soon to look ahead and contemplate just what is before the two contending parties in 1884. This is all the more necessary, inasmuch as the vote is certain to be a close one, and the struggle, when it comes, promises to be severe."

Under the old apportionment, the Electoral College consisted of 369 Electors, and it required 185 votes to elect a President. In the campaign of 1880 there was one factor of the political situation which simplified the process of estimating in advance the ultimate strength of parties. This was the solid South. The South could be counted upon solidly by the Democracy, the policy of Hayes having weakened the hold of the Republican party upon that section. Wade Hampton promised a 'solid vote' from the South to General Hancock, and the South redeemed his boast. It was their 'lost cause,' inasmuch as Hancock was beaten. Whether the South will cast a solid vote in 1884 is very doubtful; nevertheless, it is not well for the Republican party to calculate too closely upon any defection of the Democracy in that section. It is true that a steady immigration from the North has been in progress for several years into the South, but it is doubtful whether it will be sufficient to leave the Bourbon mass. We shall therefore assume that the South will vote a solid Democratic ticket, for the purpose of illustrating the political situation under the old and new apportionments.

As already stated, the Electoral College consisted of 369 votes, under the census apportionment of 1870; necessary to a choice of 185. Now, inasmuch as the South cast 138 votes in the Electoral College, it followed that the Democrats only wanted forty-seven votes additional to elect their candidate. If they carried New York and New Jersey this gave them forty-four votes additional, lacking three on the plurality, which Connecticut might supply. And this was the exact position of parties before the decisive vote of Indiana and New York in the last Presidential campaign turned the scale in favor of the Republicans. New York was the great battleground of the parties. Upon its capture depended the result of the campaign, and how well and skillfully the Republican phalanx was handled by Grant, Conkling and Arthur in the campaign of 1880 in the Empire State is a matter of history.

Now it is not a little singular, assuming a 'solid South,' that the campaign of 1884 must be fought on precisely the same lines. The new apportionment brings out this point to a nicety. The Southern States, all told, have 153 votes in the Electoral College out of a total of 401; necessary to elect, 201. This leaves the Democracy 48 short of a plurality; but if New York, with its 36 votes, and New Jersey, with its nine votes, could be captured, it would lack only three of a plurality. This figuring it will be seen, makes the probabilities of the political situation almost identical to what it was in 1880. Then, the states of New York and New Jersey were contested inch by inch; and it is past a peradventure that in 1884 the effective strength of both parties will be concentrated in those States.

Let it not be understood, however, that we concede victory to the Democratic party. On the contrary, in our judgment it will be routed horse, foot, and dragons. The indications are for a united Republican party in New York, which will carry that State. There need be no apprehension on the part of Republicans. By united action they are certain to elect a strong administration which will continue to guide the country in a policy of peaceful development as in the past. We simply present the foregoing figures to illustrate the point that so far as can now be seen the new apportionment has made no radical change in the strength of the two great national parties."

THE PRESIDENT'S TRIP.

The dispatches report that the President's party arrived at Sanford, Florida, Saturday afternoon. There were receptions at Magnolia and Greenloves Springs with bonfires, salutes and cheers. Sanford is two hundred miles from Jacksonville and in the heart of Florida. The President already feels the benefit of the trip, and speaks enthusiastically of the State and of the semi-tropical scenery, and all the members of the party begin to show results of exposure.

Chicago is spoken of as the place of meeting of the next Democratic National Convention. St. Louis has never had a Republican National Convention, and it would be a good place for the meeting in 1884.

MONEY FOR THE MINES.

A Review of the Assessment List for April.

The San Francisco Bulletin says: Twenty claims are appealing for money from stockholders this month. Eleven of these are in Nevada, six are in California and three are in Arizona. If all the shares in these claims have been included in the levy, and all the shareholders pay up, there will be $600,000 new money applied to this industry this month. As usual, most of this money is wanted for mines in Nevada. Five mines in Storey county alone are asking for $226,740 of the total. These are the California, Confidence, Chollar, Justice and Potosi. California has some claims on its stockholders for the profits it turned in to them in former years, having paid $31,320,000 in dividends up to the 1st January, 1880. Since then the ore at the California mine has been less plentiful and of poorer quality. The present is the seventh assessment on the California mine in the past three years, the total aggregating $746,000. We regret to say that of late these assessments have not been paid in full, nor with much cheerfulness. Considerable stock was forfeited to the company at the last three or four delinquent sales. The Directors have authority to sell the forfeited stock at the first favorable opportunity, and it is presumed that they have availed themselves of the privilege to a large extent. The Confidence mine paid $78,000 in dividends in 1885 and previously. The present is the thirteenth assessment, and the total is $274,990. The Chollar and Potosi mines have each levied eleven assessments, amounting to $538,000 and $532,000 respectively, and before the mine was divided several dividends were paid, aggregating a considerable sum. The Justice has been a costly and unsatisfactory property. The present is the thirty-eight assessment, and the total is said to be $3,388,500, it being taken for granted, we suppose, that all the levies have been collected. Upwards of $1,000,000 in ore from the mine has also been expended, and the dividends appear to be as remote as ever.

Three Elko county mines appear in the list. These are the Argenta, Grand Prize and Independence. Each of these has seen better days. The Argenta paid a dividend of $20,000 in 1879, and another of the same amount in 1880. But for this $40,000 stockholders have been asked to pay $280,000 in fifteen assessments. The Grand Prize has called for $470,000 in thirteen assessments, and has paid $450,000 in six dividends, the last having been paid in 1880. The Independence mine has paid $225,000 and called for $216,000. Stockholders still feel friendly to most of the Elko county mines. The Albion Consolidated and Eureka Consolidated are in Eureka county. The former has called for $547,500 in thirteen assessments, but all the money was not paid in. The Eureka Consolidated, after paying $4,817,500 in dividends, is now asking stockholders to help it tide over a difficulty. This is the third levy, the two previous ones, at the opening of the mine, being $100,000. The other mine in Nevada is the Day, in Lincoln county, a claim of great expectations, but poor results, which has called for $190,000 in twelve assessments.

Revision of the Book of Common Prayer.

The Committee on Enrichment of the Book of Common Prayer, appointed by the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in New York city, during October, 1880, has been in session at Grace House, in New York, since last Wednesday, and has at last completed its deliberations. The Committee consisted of seven bishops, seven priests and seven laymen, and meetings have been had at various times and places during the last three years. The committee made various alterations in the liturgy of the church, to comply with the requirements of the present generation, and the advancement of the needs and work of the church for the last few years. Many changes in the liturgy have been suggested at various conventions, but none were adopted, and at the last convention a vigorous effort was made to have the litany altered in one particular and to allow priests the privilege to sing prayers not in the prayer books to suit a special occasion, but both plans were defeated. The present committee was appointed to make such changes in the liturgy as will remove the objections to the present one, which were becoming almost universal. The deliberations of the committee were kept a profound secret, and will not be divulged to the public until Bishop Williams, of Cincinnati, the Chairman, sees fit to make a public statement of the proposed changes.

The contest for the Georgia Governorship is the most exciting ever known. Bacon and Boynton are the leading candidates. The State is all heard from and it is estimated that at the convention on to-day Boynton will have 154 and Bacon 120, with doubtful votes enough to swing the nomination either way.

DENVER'S EXPOSITION.

The Denver Exposition promises to be unusually attractive this year. Three hundred applications for space, from Eastern exhibitors, are already filed. The manipulation and treatment of ores in smelting furnaces erected on the ground will be an important feature. The agricultural, horticultural and zoological exhibition, under the auspices of the State Horticultural Society, will be the finest ever made in the West. United States Senator Warner Miller, of New York, will deliver the opening address.

Presidential Candidates.

Senator Vest arrived at St. Louis April 23, on the way to Kansas City. He said he thought the next President certainly would be a Democrat, and he believes McDonald, of Indiana, the most available man and popular in his own State, and, to Vest's surprise, strong in the Eastern States. In regard to Tilden's probable candidacy, he said: "Tilden is a strong man and would make a good candidate, if his health should permit. I understand his health is much improved at present. I am inclined to think the race lies between Arthur and McDonald. Arthur is working for the next nomination. He is all for New York, in regular Van Buren style. The New York men are getting everything. The report that he and Conkling are out is a mistake. They are hard in glove yet, but Conkling is out of politics, devoting himself to making money, and he is making money, and he is making it fast. He can come around all the fat fees in any of the Departments, and when a man does that he is on the high road to fortune. Logan may give Arthur trouble as he is strong and represents all that is left of Stewardism."

Geo. Butler Causing Trouble Again.

Colonel George H. Butler, the brilliant nephew of Ben Butler, whose erratic performances and idiosyncrasies have made him famous, not only in Washington, but throughout the country, was a few weeks since given an appointment under the Quartermaster's Department of the army, and detailed for service on the frontier, in command of General Terry. On his arrival he indulged in some characteristic display. General Terry immediately wrote to Washington in plaintive complaint of this unexpected assignment to his command and asked the immediate discharge of Mr. Butler. The letter of General Terry was referred to the General of the army, on whose recommendation the appointment of Mr. Butler had been made. General Sherman read it and returned it with an endorsement somewhat as follows: "This man was appointed for the purpose of developing the latent good that is in him. Let him be subjected to a severe course of discipline, send him to jail, put a ball and chain on him, shoot him if necessary, but don't discharge him."

A New Immigration Movement.

The California Immigration Association is inaugurating a new plan throughout the States of the West where the severe winters have a tendency to induce farmers of some means to seek homes in warmer climes. Their efforts are being seconded by the railroad companies, who have made concessions in fares, and as an inducement for the organization of companies to start from a given centre, such as Council Bluffs and Denver, the association has made arrangements to have the improved immigrant cars furnished with carpets and curtains, making them very comfortable for the overland trip. The first installment will arrive shortly.

The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy road has issued a circular to shippers, stating it is prepared to accept freight through without change to Salt Lake City and points in Central Utah via its own line and the Burlington and Missouri River and the Denver and Rio Grande roads. It is understood this means sharp competition for the Union Pacific in that Territory.

Beyond the River.

Away Across the Mississippi is Held a Convincing Conversation.

"I tell you six, that they are one of the neatest combinations ever produced, and my experience is that that sort of thing has been wide enough to entitle my judgment to some respect."

"Oh, I don't know," responded the first speaker's friend, with a little yawn, as though he didn't take much interest in the subject. "I have never been able to see much difference in those things. They are all pretty nearly the same size, and made of about the same stuff."

The talk of which the foregoing is a fragment, took place in Gallatin, Missouri, not long ago, in the snug office of Dr. M. P. Flowers, one of the leading physicians of the State, who followed up the vein in which he had introduced it substantially in these words:

"Nonsense, that is the rhetoric of a boy, or rather a man who either doesn't know or doesn't care what he says. Those things, as you call them, are just as different as the moon is from green cheese. Now, influenza, lottions and ointments are very good in most cases for the relief of pain or inflammation. But, in the first place they are uncertain. They soil the hands and the linen, besides being always out of reach when they are most wanted."

"Well, my dear Doctor," sighed the traveler from the North, "what would you have? This is a wretched world anyhow, and nothing is ever at hand when it is wanted. You can't suggest anything."

"Yes, I can," broke in the doctor, thumping the table with his fist. "I can suggest BENSON'S CAPSINE PAIN-REMOVING PLASTER. I have tried it on my patients, and I have tried it on myself for an attack of rheumatism, and in all cases relief has followed in from three to forty-eight hours. The old plasters are stage coaches—the Capsine is a telegraphic dispatch. For instance, in cases of Neuralgia, Migraine, Rheumatism, Lumbago, retarded action of the kidneys, and—"

"I give it up, Doctor, and in case of need I'll buy Benson's," said the traveler, pleasantly. In the center of the genuine is cut the word CAPSINE.

The Fair Next Week.
The fair which is to be given under the auspices of the "Ladies' Aid Society of the Congregational Church," will be held at Kimball's Hall on Thursday and Friday evenings, the 19th and 20th of the month. The "Union" rooms were not sufficiently large to serve all purposes of the bazaar, hence the change to the hall. The ladies are preparing for a first-class entertainment and fair. Full particulars and programme will be published later.

The Fashionable Merchant Tailor.
S. Jacobs, merchant tailor, has been doing an immense business for the last year and within the past week his orders have increased at such a rate that he has been kept constantly busy in taking measurements for new suits. THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

Synopsis of Those Recommended by the Last Legislature.

The Tuscarora Mining News, of Saturday last, says: The last Legislature adopted a number of amendments to our State Constitution, but we have not yet seen any notice of them in our exchanges, and probably but few persons in the State are informed in regard to the changes which are proposed to be made. Having received a copy of them from a friend in Carson we give the following synopsis for the benefit of our readers:

Section 2 of Article IV is amended, changing the time of the convening of the Legislature from the first Monday in January to the first Monday in February. This is for the purpose of giving the State officers an opportunity to prepare their reports, so they will be in readiness to submit to the Legislature when it convenes, thereby preventing great waste of time which is now occasioned by the want of them during the first two or three weeks of the session.

Section 1 of Article II is amended so as to require naturalized citizens to perfect their citizenship six months prior to the time of voting. This is evidently for the purpose of preventing political parties and candidates from defraying the expense of naturalization papers for such persons as do not care enough for the privilege of exercising the elective franchise to pay for them themselves. It also disfranchises all persons convicted of the offense of selling their votes.

Article XVI is changed so as to render necessary for constitutional amendments to be adopted only by one Legislature instead of two consecutive ones, before submitting them to the voters for ratification. It requires, however, the vote of two-thirds of the members of each house instead of a bare majority, as under the present system. The Article is further amended by fixing the minimum number of members of a Constitutional Convention at one-half the members of both branches of the Legislature, instead of the aggregate number as it now stands.

Section 3 of Article VI is amended so as to permit the proper Board to invest the funds accruing from the sale of State lands for educational purposes in the bonds of other States, instead of restricting them to United States and Nevada State bonds, as at present.

These comprise the amendments adopted at the last session. They will have to be introduced by the next Legislature before they can be submitted to the people for ratification. The Legislature also submitted a call for a Constitutional Convention, which will be voted upon at the next general election. If the voters think the requisite change will be effected by the adoption of the amendments they will doubtless vote down the call for a Convention. They will be likely also to do so if they regard the cost of holding such Convention a greater burden than would be removed by a revision of the present Constitution. The question is one of great interest to the people of the State, and will doubtless be thoroughly discussed before the election next year.

Further than expressing our opinion that the greatest objections to our present Constitution are at most but partially removed by the amendments proposed, we will not discuss their merits or elements in this article. It was only our intention to present the gist of the changes to our readers as a matter of news, reserving our comments for future occasions.

Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine.

The number for May is an unusually interesting one; prominent among the many admirable articles are a continuation of "What is Presbyterianism?" the present paper being by Rev. E. F. Hatfield, D. D.; also a continuation of De Leon's "The American Pilgrim in Palestine;" the first of a series of papers by Lieutenant Schwatka, "Among the Natives of the North," and a characteristic article by the editor "Home." There are contributions of articles, serial and short stories, sketches, essays, etc., by Alfreton Harvey, Adelaide Stout, O. E. Birrell, Edwin Arnold, Robert Buchanan, Ida E. Harvey, Rev. Mr. Hammond, J. W. Thirwall, and other favorite authors. In the Home Pulpit, is a sermon by Dr. Talmage, "The Eye," and there are interesting Obituaries, Notices, Record of Important Events, the Collection Basket, Personal Notes, and Editorial Comments, etc., etc. This Magazine's popularity is constantly increasing, and it should be taken by every family in the country. The subscription is $3 a year; single copy, 25 cents, postpaid. Address, Mrs. Frank Leslie, Publisher, 53, 55 and 57 Park Place, New York.

The Design for the New Two-Cent Stamp.

The Postoffice Department has agreed upon the design for the new two-cent postage stamp for first-class matter, and the work of printing for distribution and sale will shortly be begun. The medallion of Washington in panel is the most prominent feature, and half round the top "U. S. Postage" is placed. This is a departure from the present system, where the initials "U. S." are used. At the lower portion of the stamp the words "Two Cents" are situated, divided by the figure 2. The design is conspicuous for its plainness, and there is an absence of any decoration not in keeping with the subject. The likeness of Washington has been pronounced perfect by all who have seen it, and it is a copy of the head of the painting in the east room of the President's house.

Senator Marker Gored by a Bull.

Senator Marker had a narrow escape from death yesterday afternoon at his home in Washoe City. Our readers will remember that only a short time ago Marker's bull gored a Chinaman to death. Yesterday the Senator let the bull loose in the corral and the vicious animal attacked him, Pete defending himself with a pitchfork, which he stuck into its nose. The enraged brute threw Pete into the air and broke his right arm. The Senator also received internal injuries, but how severe is not known. Dr. Bergman, of Reno, and Dr. Bronson, of Virginia, were telegraphed for, and hastened to Washoe last night. The JOURNAL sincerely hopes that the Senator's injuries will not prove fatal.

Conkling's Case.

The proceedings connected with the postponement of Conkling's case are related by a New York dispatch of the 6th, in the following:

The interior of the Court of General Sessions was crowded this morning with people who had come to attend the trial of George Conkling. Assistant District Attorney O'Byrne said he was not prepared to go on with the case. To this Conkling's counsel strenuously objected. O'Byrne said he had begun an investigation that would take all the gush out of this so-called domestic drama.

"If the case is postponed it will go over until the May term," remarked Judge Gildersleeve.

O'Byrne was satisfied with this, but Conkling's counsel, after a long appeal to the Judge for an immediate trial, asked if any postponement was granted it should be until September, in order that the defendant could go home and attend to his business. The Judge then decided to postpone the trial until the September term.

M. Ascheim, the well-known barber of Carson, died in that city Sunday evening after a protracted illness.

Ask Your Friends to Draw a Cat.

The Eureka Sentinel is responsible for this: "Can you draw a cat?" is the latest question, and you are immediately handed pencil and paper and requested to give your best idea of a cat without model or semblance. One lady has what is called a "cat basket," wherein she keeps all the attempts of her friends to draw a feline. It is astonishing how few persons really know how a cat looks. Ask your friends to draw a cat and see what funny things they make.

Valuable Prizes.

Nothing is more remarkable than the unusual interest which has been taken in astronomical matters by the American public during the past two years. To such an extent has this been true that hundreds of people, who formerly felt little pleasure in the subject, now possess their telescopes and search the heavens nightly. Desiring to still further encourage this most laudable ambition, I offer two hundred dollars for each comet discovery made during the present year, subject to the following conditions:

1. It may be discovered either by telescope or the naked eye, but must be unexpected, except as to the comet of 1812, which will probably reappear during the year.

2. The announcement of the discovery must be made confidentially and exclusively (by telegraph) to Dr. Lewis Swift, Director of the Warner Observatory, Rochester, N. Y., and to him only. This announcement, with the name of the discoverer, will be immediately cabled to Europe, announced in the associated press dispatches, and sent by special telegram to all the leading American papers. It is essential, in order that this may be correctly done, that the above specifications regarding the exclusive communication to Dr. Swift be followed to the letter.

3. The telegram must give the time of discovery, the position, and direction of motion if possible, sufficiently exact to enable at least one other observer to find it. Three disinterested astronomers will be selected by Dr. Swift to decide all disputed questions.

Personal.

J. C. Hampton, of Virginia, and W. S. Gage, of Austin, surviving partners of the well known firm with which they have been so long connected, came down from the Comstock last night, accompanied by Hon. Jay Hubbell, ex-Congressman and a prominent candidate for U. S. Senator at the late election in Michigan, who is now here as the representative of C. P. Hubbell, his brother, deceased, who was also a member of the firm of J. C. Hampton & Co. These gentlemen are en route to Austin to attend to business affairs at that place.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world.
